There are some fifty men on the who will go out, but the greater num- of them will locate at Willmar until strike is over. The railway company y issued an order prohibiting agents receiving perishable freight for any t on the line.

Pension Fraud Cases.

buque, Iowa, April 17.—The Van Leu- pension fraud cases were continued ay on the strength of affidavits by Simmons and two of Van Leuven's ant girls that Van Leuven has been and unconscious at intervals for the five days at his home in Lime ge. The government presented the er affidavits of Pension Examiner le and Charles Albright, formerly a k in Van Leuven's office, that Sim- s was a disreputable character, and e-false affidavits in pension claims for Leuven. The defense also moved to h the indictments, because they were d on private papers taken from a lit- in box in Van Leuven's office by tle, while Deputy United States Mar- Goodner held a revolver at Van Leu- 's head. The government moved to e out this motion, because the ques- of the competency of evidence ob- d by duress could not be raised in a motion to quash. Judge Shiras took the government's motion under advisement. Van Leuven will be tried at Winona, Minn., in June on 20 indictments found at Minneapolis.

KELLEY'S ARMY.

Omaha Comes to the Relief of the Distressed Throng.

Omaha, April 17. Commander Kelly of the industrial army was in Omaha this afternoon trying to procure food for his men, stranded near Council Bluffs. He went to the Knights of Labor and they made up a committee and canvassed with him to commission houses and other business houses to get food and money to buy food.

Mayor Bemis this afternoon issued this proclamation:

To all Citizens of Omaha: I will receive subscriptions at my office for the purpose of purchasing supplies for the Commonweal army now encamped near Council Bluffs. There are now about 1,000 men of all trades and professions in this army, the large majority of whom I believe to be well deserving, and our citizens should join in keeping these men from starving at our very doors.

GEORGE P. BEMIS, Mayor.

Mayor Bemis expressed himself forcibly as to the manner in which the army has been treated by Council Bluffs people and the State authorities of Iowa.

The action of the former in refusing food and shelter he characterized as less than human, and said that as they had failed to do their duty he hoped that Omaha, though not in duty bound to do so, would come to the rescue. The men, he declared, were neither tramps nor criminals, but simply unfortunate fellow beings deserving of sympathy and assistance.

General Kelly seemed discouraged and down-hearted. Several of his men are very sick and have no shelter, and are camped on the bare ground. It rained a good part of the day and the situation is very bad.

Women "Coxeyites."

Seattle, Wyo., April 17.—A women's auxiliary has been added to the Industrial army of the Northwest. It is composed principally of the wives of industrials. About forty attended the first meeting. The intention is for both contingents to move on to Washington together in a few days.

PASSED FIRST READING.

Morley's Bill to Abolish the Veto Power of the Peers.

London, April 17.—Morley's bill to abolish the power of the House of Lords to veto legislation passed by the Commons had its first reading in the Commons to-day. The bill introduced by Charles C. Condell to abolish the present representation in parliament of the universities was also read the first time.

An Important Land Deal.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 17.—The decision of the Court of Private Land Claims yesterday in the Nolan grant of Mora county to the effect that it was not a valid grant will form a precedent that will be far reaching in application and will affect many grants made after 1836. The decision treats exhaustively of the law and constitution of Mexico, and shows unequivocally that after the passage of the law of April 4, 1837, which repealed the Mexican colonization laws of 1824, governors of territories could make no grants such as the Nolan grant is claimed to be.

The opinion sets aside all precedents and holds that the Supreme Court of the United States in reading land grant cases heretofore, never had before it the laws arising under the constitution of Mexico adopted in 1836 and later.

It has been the previous ruling that grants made prior to the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo at the close of the Mexican war must be respected.

An Injunction Granted.

New York, April 17.—An order was signed by Judge Patterson of the Supreme Court to-day denying a motion for an injunction to restrain the Chicago, Great Junction to restrain the Chicago, Great Western Railroad company from holding possession of or operating the property of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway company under a lease executed several years ago.

The order was granted in the suit brought by James M. French on behalf of himself and other bondholders. The purpose of the suit was to have the scheme for the reorganization of the St. Paul company by lease to the Great Western company and the substitution of stock of the Great Western company for the securities of the St. Paul company all the property which has come into its possession under the lease, and that the Great Western company be enjoined from holding possession of or operating the St. Paul road or from interfering with its earnings and receipts, and also for an accounting of the property of the St. Paul company.

It is claimed by Mr. French that he and other bondholders objected to the scheme, charging that it was brought about by collusion and was for the purpose of dissipating the property of the St. Paul company, and that its object was to freeze out the bondholders. These accusations were denied specifically. A demurrer to the complaint was argued to-day before Judge Patterson, who, after listening to the discussion, reserved his decision.

Treasuring Forbidden.

Washington, April 17.—Commissioner Lamoreaux to-day issued an order prohibiting the pasturage of sheep or other cattle, cutting timber, prospecting or any other form of depredation on Battlement Mesa reserve in Colorado. These notices, which are printed on linen will be sent to Judge King of Delta to be posted all over the reservation.

Recruits who were Fighters.

Omaha, April 17.—A train crew on the Elkhorn road tried to throw off an empty box car ten recults from the Black Hills on their way to join the Industrial army under Kelly. A savage fight followed, in which Conductor Brown had his skull fractured by a glass insulator, hurled by one of the recruits. The brakeman was also badly injured. All the men are in jail at Fremont.

A Missouri Flood.

Nebraska City, Neb., April 17.—The Missouri river is cutting its banks badly below this city, and greatly interfering with traffic on the Beatrice branch of the Burlington and Missouri River railroad. At Woods sliding between Peru and Brownville several hundred feet of track have had to be moved back from the river bank.

Colorado Weather

Washington, April 17.—For Wednesday: Fair, preceded by snows in the early morning; north winds; slowly rising temperature.

Henry Ives Dead.

Asheville, N. C., April 17.—Henry S. Ives died near here at 7:30 to-night.

CHICAGO'S PLAGUE.

Small Pox is Now Epidemic in the World's Fair City.

HOSPITALS ARE OVERCROWDED.

A Second House-to-House Canvass Made by the Police—All Available City Funds Turned Over to the Health Department.

Chicago, April 17.—The smallpox situation here to-day was more serious than at any time since the pest became prevalent this winter. Ten cases were discovered in the county hospital, and hundreds of patients in the great institution have been exposed to the disease. A rigid quarantine was at once ordered, so that no person can be admitted to the hospital or discharged, although cured. The number of new cases reported up to evening to-day was ten. Five victims of the scourge died to-day at the pest-house, and three were admitted. It is still overcrowded, with 178 patients. The only way more victims can be received there is for some unfortunate to be removed in the smallpox hearse for burial in the county cemetery.

The county and city authorities conferred to-day, and Chairman Madden of the city council Finance committee agreed that all the available city funds should be drawn to enable the health department to cope with the new cases. When the shed-like addition to the gloomy pest-house is finished next Saturday the city will be able to handle and isolate 50 more cases, but the disease is fast approaching the epidemic stage, and the question of room is likely to present itself with alarming suddenness.

The health commissioner was appealed to to-day to order the removal of the ten smallpox patients from the county hospital to the pest-house, but he said it was impossible until more room was made by building or death.

The second house to house canvass of the city to locate points of contagion was begun to-day by the police force. Mrs. Julia Train, of Valparaiso, Ind., is supposed to have become insane through fear of taking the disease. When found on the streets here last night she said she had come to nurse, and a lot of clippings referring to the disease in Chicago were found on her. She is detained until her friends are heard from.

SETTLED AT LAST.

The Old Police Board Retires and the New Installed.

Denver, April 17.—The new police and fire board organized at noon to-day, and received the office from the retiring members, Martin and Orr. At the time a great crowd of applicants filled the corridors, while the patrolmen who had cut off their buttons and had sent in their resignations were amusing themselves by antics of a boistrous nature. The new board names Hamilton Armstrong, a Trades Assembly leader, and Stales Senator, chief of police, and William Roberts, chief of the fire department, to succeed Julius Pearse, who had been chief of the department for many years, but was some months ago discharged for insubordination, having disagreed with Pearse upon some matter. Mrs. Likens, police matron, is stated to go to give place to Mrs. Otto Frinks, a Populist lecturer.

California Democrats Condemn Bill.

San Francisco, April 17.—At a mass meeting of 3,000 Democrats held here last night a series of resolutions were adopted declaring the recent utterances of Senator Hill on the Wilson bill "traitorous in their purpose, false in their assumptions, absurd in their logic," and adding that they excite the indignation and derision of the Democracy of California. The resolutions also condemned and repudiated the "unDemocratic course of Thomas J. Geary in reference to the Wilson bill." The resolutions will be presented to the Senate by Senator White.

Governor Evans Files Another Petition.

Denver, April 17.—Ex-Governor John Evans has filed a petition in the United States Court asking that the recent election of directors of the Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf Railroad company be set aside. The petition requests that a new election be ordered, at which Union Pacific holdings of stock cannot be voted, because of the allegations that it is a conspiracy on the part of the Union Pacific to gain possession of the Gulf property. The petition asks that the newly elected board of directors be restrained from acting as such, and that they be particularly restrained from voting in favor of a foreclosure of the Gulf mortgage and a sale of the property.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Washington, April 17.—The unanimous consent under which the Senate has been considering the tariff bill for the last week was renewed to-day, and it is to continue until 5 p. m. on Tuesday of next week. Then one Democratic Senator is to have the floor for a couple of hours to close "general debate," after which the consideration of the bill paragraph by paragraph is to begin. As was explained in the course of discussion this agreement does not preclude Senators from making speeches that will cover the whole bill. Besides that a special reservation was insisted on by Mr. Hill (Dem.), of New York, to proceed to the consideration of the free list section before rates are fixed on dutiable articles. The bill itself was not taken up until near 3 o'clock, and then speeches were made on it by two Democratic Senators, McLaurin, of Mississippi, and Smith, of New Jersey. Notice of an amendment to the tariff bill was given by Senator Lodge (Rep.), of Massachusetts, in line with his recent remarks on the resolution as to the coinage of Mexican standard dollars. It proposes in reference to all articles the product of Great Britain or any of her colonies to double the rates of duty provided in the bill, and where these articles are on the free list to impose a duty of 25 per cent. ad valorem and to maintain those additional and discriminating duties until Great Britain shall assent to and take part in an international agreement (together with the United States) for the coinage of silver. The Senate adjourned at 5:30 p. m.

HOUSE.

In the space of two hours to-day the majority of the House of Representatives reversed the policy that has guided them in the matter of counting a quorum and voted for the resolution reported from the Committee on Rules so as to provide for the counting of a quorum by the aid of tellers—one from each side of the House. It received the support of all but 47 of the Democrats, who voted and of all the Republicans and was adopted by a vote of 213 to 47. The Populists did not record their votes on either side of the question. Democratic opponents of the rule refused to enter into an agreement to limit debate, and Mr. Catchings (Dem.), of Mississippi, in charge of the resolution, moved the previous question. This being ordered, it cut off all debate except for half an hour. When the vote was announced Mr. Reed received an ovation from his Republican colleagues, and from the galleries, over the triumph of the principle for which he contended. The unfinished business was then speedily disposed of, the order of arrest of March 25 discharged, and the House entered upon the consideration of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill and discussed the measure until 4:40, when an adjournment was had.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

Latest News from El Paso's Great Gold Camp.

Special to The Gazette:

Cripple Creek, April 17.—The Elkton shipped another car load yesterday. In the lower level the south drift has been extended about 60 feet from the shaft.

In the face the ore has changed very considerably, and the rock is now of a coarser texture, while the values are largely in the form of sylvanite. President Bernard was exhibiting a number of roasted samples on the street to-day taken from this new find, and all of them showed numerous fine bubbles of gold. He stated that this ore was richer and more uniform in value than any heretofore taken from the mine. It is the intention to extend this drift to the limit of the ore chute, at which point, unless it extends to the south line of the claim, a new working shaft will be sunk and equipped with a first-class steam hoister plant.

The Raven company is drifting under that well-known hill at a very rapid pace. The tunnel is now over 250 feet in length, and is now outside of the Jack Pot line. The rock being penetrated is quite soft and breaks admirably. Indications in the face of the tunnel point to the near approach of the vein of ore, evidences of which are also apparent on the surface.

Davis, Wilson & Tyler have recently leased the Dauntless and Becky Sharp claims, situated in Requa gulch, near the Moose, to H. H. Palmer. The latter has a small force of miners employed prospecting the property. In the Becky Sharp a strong vein of very fine looking quartz has been opened, some distance north of the north incline of the Moose. This vein runs at a right angle to the Moose and other known veins in this locality. No values of any consequence have been found as yet, but as the boys say, "It is a great looker."

The Gould people have a pleasant surprise in store for their friends, and the mining world generally. Very little has been publicly known about their operations. In a forty-foot shaft on the Nil Desperandum they have a vein opened the whole width of the shaft, nine-tenths of which is crystallized quartz, as handsome as anything to be seen in the whole district. Near the surface a large quantity of iron pyrites was encountered which contained very little of value, but as depth has been attained this has given place to cleaner quartz, so that the management now asserts that the greater portion of the vein matter will pay for treatment at the mill.

The management of the Aola company are quite elated over the finding of a considerable body of quartz of a much better looking grade than anything heretofore taken from the drift.

At a meeting of the city council tonight James W. Marshall was elected city marshal. He was formerly a resident of Denver, and figured there some time ago in police circles.

Five or six inches of snow fell this morning, most of which remains on the ground. The weather is cold.

New York Stock Market.

New York, April 17.—Money on call has been easy at 1 per cent.; last loan and closing offered at 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3 1-2@4 1-2 per cent.

There was a falling off in the transactions at the stock exchange to-day, the total sales of stocks amounting to 180,125 shares against 220,000 shares yesterday. Opening figures as a rule were lower, professional operators having sold the list on the belief that considerable gold will have to be exported shortly, notwithstanding the condition of foreign trade, which shows a heavy balance in our favor. The railway troubles at the West were also used by the traders, but they did not have much effect.

Net changes for the day show losses of 1@1 per cent.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds were higher, the sales being $1,250,000.

Exchange on London, 4.87 1-4@4.87 1-2. Sight drafts, 4.88 1-2@4.88 3-4.

Bad for the Railroads.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 17.—The threatened strike of coal miners April 21 is going to play havoc with the railroads in this vicinity. The supply of fuel will be reduced and the lines that have not laid in a stock will have hard work to keep their trains going. The chances are that the strike will be an extended one, and will last for several months. All of the local roads are devoting their time to getting a supply of coal out of the striking districts. Coal cars loaded to the top boards are being pulled into the yards and side-tracked for future use.

Harvard's Branch Observatory.

Flagstaff, A. T., April 17.—The recommendation of Professor A. E. Douglass, of Harvard, who has been here several weeks looking for a suitable site for an observatory, that the atmospherical conditions here are the best in the territory, has been acted on by Percival Lowell, of Boston, who will furnish the money to build. The observatory will be a branch of Harvard.

Aquidaban Sunk.

Montevideo, April 17.—The officials of the Brazilian legation here have received a dispatch saying the rebel war ship, Aquidaban, formerly flag ship of De Mello, has been sunk off Santa Catharina by Brazilian torpedo boats.

CITY NEWS.

Lecture of the Eloquent Editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES.

He was Greeted by a Large Audience—The New Arrangements at the City Hall—Regarding Alderman Finegan's Warrant.

John Temple Graves, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, delivered a grand lecture in this city last night and was greeted by an audience worthy of the effort. The High school auditorium was crowded with people to hear the orator. Much was expected but few expected such a treat as was in store for them. Every young man who loves his country should have heard the glowing words of the southerner, and if there are any who do not love their country they certainly should have heard him.

Mr. Dickey introduced the speaker in his usual pleasing manner. Mr. Graves is a small man with clean shaven face. He appears in full evening dress upon the platform. At first his appearance is not prepossessing but in a few sentences one realizes that he is listening to a master of the language, a poet and a patriot. Mr. Graves has as his topic, "The Reign of the Demagogue." It was timely in Colorado just now and its points were fully appreciated by the audience.

Mr. Graves thanked the audience for its applause and Mr. Dickey for his kind introduction. He began with a witicism regarding the climate which makes one light headed and irresponsible. He said if he made any remarks that were not just suitable they could attribute it to the fact that he was talking through the climate. Then he proceeded to pay a few remarks to this wonderful region and said that he is glad that he has seen it before he has seen any other country in the world. Although two thousand miles from home he felt that he was in his own land. In beautiful language he proceeded to illustrate the extent and greatness of this country. The very bigness of the country, however, conceals a danger. In touching the subject matter Mr. Graves spoke of a great pier in the ocean against which the waves wash and the ships beat, but which stands firm. Underneath, however, are the millions of barnacles which are gradually undermining it. He spoke in eloquent words of men who are rewarded with office for great and meritorious services and thought it a laudable ambition to care to serve the State. Demagogueism is not confined to politics. He illustrated it in the pulpit, literature, journalism, etc. The object of the lecture, he declared, was to point out and hold up to scorn the men who barter in votes. Wherever the common people have a voice in the government there will be found two men. One is the statesman with high desire to serve the whole people of the State, the other the demagogue who lift the pirate flag of selfishness and calls to his standard the weakest of the race. In the most biting sarcasm Mr. Graves described the ward politician and followed him through a career in the council, the legislature and into the highest offices. He told how he belongs to the fire department, is high and mighty in the lodges, sometimes in the churches, and has the greatest love and veneration for the poor working man and talks loudly about his wrongs. It was hard not to think that Mr. Graves had not been making some local studies. He declared him a baneful figure in politics, and a direful foe to every righteous law. The country may well stand aghast at the hordes of office seekers sweeping down upon the newly elected president until he had to seek refuge in flight to the Virginia woods.

More than ever before, the speaker declared, has bribery become prevalent until nearly a million voters stand ready to sell their birth-right for a miserable mess of pottage. Mr. Graves tarried for a few moments to pay a magnificent tribute to Governor McKinley, the only living American statesman whom he mentioned throughout the evening.

The demagogue is driving men of merit from the state. The speaker would rather be able to swing a free lance and to try to do some good in pointing out the danger than to accept office from the demagogue. What we can do is to hold up the hands of the few who are not of the demagogues. Mr. Graves went on to speak of the hordes who are sweeping in from abroad and how we are to amalgamate them and he paid a beautiful tribute to Henry W. Grady. Parties he said may come and go but the government at Washington will live. There is unrest everywhere and the questions of the race seem to be gathering around our country for settlement. With all these mighty questions he be settled and the demagogue casts himself in, the speaker thought it enough to make one feel for his dagger. Nothing less than patriotism or statesmanship should be brought to the consideration of these mighty questions. To the teachers of this land he urged that they show the young people the difference between statesmanship and demagoguery, that true fame rests on true character. He would have him point to Gladstone and Bright, to Washington, Clay, Webster, Lincoln, Grant and Lee. This part of the lecture was a beautiful series of word paintings and the ending with Lee was most effective.

The speaker said that he could not in the light of past history be a pessimist. In the reaction that will come he hopes to see the dignity and greatness of the early part of the century return. He hopes that Colorado will have a noble part in this great reformation.

AT THE CITY HALL.

Some of the Arrangements at the City's Headquarters.

The city hall has undergone some very extensive alterations and now presents a very business-like appearance. There is only one serious fault to be found with it and that is the clerk and treasurer can only be reached through an alley. The office of the clerk and treasurer are very much enlarged, which was done by throwing the old police office into the clerk's room. Handsome iron railings shut the officers off from the crowd. They have as handsome and convenient quarters as they could well wish.

The Fire department has possession of the remainder of the lower floor. Four stalls are placed here for the horses. The chief has his horse and buggy on the north side and the fire horses and wagon will be on the south side. In the rear will be a storage room for grain, etc. The fire wagon is now on the way and may be expected any day. The harness is here but will not be used until the wagon arrives.

Up stairs the firemen have their living room in the old council chamber. This they have fitted up conveniently and comfortably. It has a nice carpet on the floor and pictures on the walls. Each of the men has a cot bed. It is a decidedly comfortable place.

The new council chamber is in the room formerly occupied by the city marshal. It has been enlarged and better lighted and ventilated. The marshal has his office in the room formerly occupied by the Matt Franco Hose company. It is nicely furnished, being carpeted and filled with pictures. Conspicuous here is Mr. Dana's collection of the pictures of criminals which is becoming quite valuable. The marshal is connected with the police station by speaking tubes, etc. The police and the police magistrate have the large room formerly occupied by the Hook and Ladder company. Here are wardrobes for the officers, etc. In the morning the magistrate holds his court in this room.

Altogether the arrangements are very satisfactory. As soon as the wagon arrives the fire department will go into training. To reach the marshal's office one must mount the steps on the outside of the building on the south.

FINEGAN'S PAY.

The Controversy at the Deaf and Blind Institute.

The controversy as to whether Mrs. Dwinell or Alderman Finegan should have drawn the warrant as director of the Deaf and Blind institute for the quarter ending April 1, goes merrily on. The warrant was made out to Mrs. Dwinell, although she served but one month of the quarter. Mrs. Dwinell has drawn the warrant and turned it over to Superintendent Ray, who yesterday made out a check in his own name and sent it to Mr. Finegan. Mr. Finegan proposes to have a stirring up over the matter. It was stated yesterday by a gentleman who is quite closely connected with institute affairs, that the trouble grows out of not dividing up the warrant for the quarter, which he seemed to think was a natural mistake, as Mrs. Dwinell's name is now called on the accounts and Mr. Finegan's is not. In making out all the bills it was a very simple matter to forget that there had been a change a month before. Mrs. Dwinell said to the treasurer of the board yesterday that she had no desire to take anything that belonged to Mr. Finegan, and that she proposed to turn the warrant back to the institution as soon as she got it.

Jeffreys Lewis.

The attraction at the Opera House Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee will be the distinguished actress, Miss Jeffreys Lewis, who is playing a spring and summer season en route to California. The talents of this lady are so well known that her reappearance here should certainly be a source of delight and pleasure to lovers of the dramatic art. This season Miss Lewis has an entirely new repertoire of plays, which she secured last summer in Europe. The chief of these is an adaptation from the German, entitled "Shattered Idols." It is a play of powerful human interest, and gives Miss Lewis every possible opportunity for the display of those talents which have placed her in the list of great actresses of the day. In the supporting company are Albert C. Deltwyn, H. Coulter Brinker, John F. McArdle, Harry Levlan, Frank Harvey, Misses Jennie Reiffarth, Agnes Proctor, Helaine Hadley, Ina Schonfield, Eleanor Judge, Katie Baker, Gustavus Levick and Helen Holland.

Arbor Day Exercises.

Arbor Day, which occurs on Friday next, will be observed at the High School in a manner different from the custom that has hitherto prevailed. Addresses of ten or fifteen minutes will be delivered by Mayor Strickler, President Slocum, Mr. George Parsons and Colonel E. T. Ensign. These gentlemen are all interested in matters pertaining to the proper observance of the day, and their addresses will be appropriate and timely. Choice will be musical selections by the various musical organizations of the High School. The exercises will be held in the High School auditorium, and will begin promptly at 10:30. The public is cordially invited, and it is hoped that a large audience will be present.

A Postal Thief.

Washington, April 17.—The chief postoffice inspector to-day received a telegram from Inspector Johnson at St. Louis, announcing the arrest of Charles Brattan, assistant mail messenger at Burlingame, Kan., for rifling mail pouches and stealing registered letters and other mail matter.

A Contest Postponed.

Minneapolis, April 17.—The contest which was to have taken place last night between "Shadow" Maher and Dobbs, the colored wonder, was postponed to April 20, owing to Maher having a sore shoulder. Ben H. Benton, of Boston, who is managing Dick Moore, has signed Dobbs for a year's engagement. Mr. Benton says he will back Dobbs against any lightweight champion in the United States for $1,000 a side. A challenge from Dobbs to the winner of the Wolcott-Tracey fight at the Crib Club, Boston, on April 19, will be read at the ring side.

Republicans 13, Democrats 1.

Peoria, Ill., April 17.—The election for aldermen to-day resulted in a sweeping victory for the Republicans, they electing five of the seven candidates balloted for. The feature of the contest was the defeat of Simpson, regular Republican candidate in the Third ward, by Francis, Independent Republican. Simpson is a saloon keeper and a disreputable character generally. The new council will stand, 13 Republicans; 1 Democrat.

Cable Car Held Up.

San Francisco, April 17.—The holding up of a Hayes street cable car this morning by masked robbers in a thickly populated district makes the second robbery of the kind here within the last four days. The robbers this morning took all the valuables of the gripman, conductor and the lone passenger, two watches and about $30. They escaped. Two men are under arrest for the first robbery, which took place on the San Bruno road Sunday night.

Snow in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 17.—A blinding snow storm which began here this afternoon prevails at midnight. A high wind is blowing and the snow is drifting badly. Unless the storm abates before morning there will be a serious railroad blockade.

COXEY'S ROUND-UP.

It begins to look as if the Hon. J. Silica Coxey were going to get to Washington with his original army, and also as if he would be joined there by several other of the armies now traversing various parts of the land.

The progress made by these armies has been astonishing—All of them except Coxey's own have seized cars and extorted free transportation from railways, and at least one of them—Frye's—has traveled already more than 2000 miles on its way to the capital.

Such a phenomenon is not to be ridiculed and dismissed from mind without further consideration.

Does anyone suppose that if a "tramp convention" had been called at Washington, and as many men had started for it as are traveling now in the various armies, they would have been allowed to proceed as they have been, and assisted on their way by railway companies, municipalities and State governments? Is it not evident that public opinion, generally, if not in favor of the Coxey movement, is at least tolerant of it?

The behavior of most of the armies has demonstrated that they are not made up of professional tramps. It seems probable that the majority of them are men who were at work a year ago and who have been thrown out of employment within that time by causes beyond their control. With such men there is a certain sympathy, which accounts for the progress the various armies have made.

But what are they going to do at Washington?

They are going to let Congressmen see them, and, if possible, hear them—are going to present themselves as an object lesson on the results of Democratic finance and tariff tinkering.

We have no sympathy with that ignorant and uneducated sentiment which lays every man's troubles at the door of the government; but it is just as wrong to conclude that the government has nothing to do with individual troubles when those troubles extend over the whole country and are traceable to a fear of Congressional action on the part of employers. That is the case now. The Coxey armies are really a fair sample of the condition to which the rule of the present administration and Congress is bringing the workingmen of this country.

The committee majorities in both House and Senate have refused to give any hearing either to manufacturers or workingmen; if three thousand unemployed men camp out in Washington, some notice at least will have to be taken of them. The Congressmen who are now urging the theoretical benefits of "free raw material" and the "steady employment"—also theoretical—which that insures to workingmen, even if they do not listen to these men, will have to look at least, at the effect of such a policy in actual practice as here exhibited in concrete form. This may give some of them a new idea, and lead them to tack on to the tariff monstrosity now before the Senate an additional clause providing for the establishment of permanent national soup houses, the means for maintaining which shall be raised by an additional 2 per cent. tax on incomes above $4,000.

But what will become of the army when it gets to Washington?

Well, it will either have to be fed, or else it will have to be "run in" or run out by force. It can't be "run in," for there isn't room for it in the Washington jails. We don't believe it will be run out. We think it will be fed, for a while at least, and then gradually disperse.

A USELESS WAR ENDED.

The end of the Fire and Police Department war in Denver, resulting in the withdrawal of Orr and Martin, brings relief to the peaceable people of that city. The Governor has now accomplished, legally and by peaceful means, what he wanted to accomplish by gunpowder and dynamite several weeks ago.

Now that the war is over, people are wondering why it should ever have been, and what business so many people had interfering in it whose official duties lay in other departments. The only answer available up to date is that it is the nature of the Denver politician of all parties to interfere in everything political that comes up, on whatever side, and to make a factional and personal fight out of it if possible.

How long Mullins and Barnes may stay in office depends entirely on the Governor's whim. He can turn them out to morrow if he chooses. Thus far, their administration promises poorly. Denver is surely to be pitied. It is suffering for the sins of the Populists as no other city in the State is suffering. It is to be hoped that the next Legislature will do away with the laws which make the Governor the head of the municipal government and the Mayor a mere figurehead, and restore to the much suffering city some measure of home rule.

J. Sterling Morton seems to be in training for a Populist. In a recent speech at Boston he said:

The poor and unlettered man who invented the cotton gin is a benefactor equally with the learned Dr. Watts, who first made steam a motive power.

Whereupon the New York Sun remarks.

"Who was this learned Dr. Watts that made steam a motive power? Was he any relation of Sike Watts, the well-known Cuckoo poet of Dogweed Run? Mr. Morton ought to write a piece about the steam Dr. Watts. A penny-weight of information, says the Persian gnomic poet, Eb nah din, is worth more than a pound of government seeds."

Once more we are compelled to call the attention of the editor of the El Paso County Herald to the fact that a paraphrase is not a quotation; and that when quotation marks are put around a paraphrase of printed matter, they make it a lie. Nothing that is put in quotation marks in the Herald can be depended upon to be what it purports to be—the exact words quoted. Such falsification is unworthy of a sheet that pretends to represent the decent and better element of the Populist party in this place.

The degree of intelligence with which the El Paso County Herald is edited may be judged from its editorial statement that "the Wilson tariff bill, as amended, is practically identical with the McKinley tariff, save upon sugar, wool and whisky." Why, except sugar and whisky? The difference on sugar is only a cent a pound, and on whisky only 30c a gallon. That is nearer practical identity than the duties on the majority of articles mentioned in the respective bills.

Now they are trying to make out in Denver that what angered the Governor and made him call out the militia was being slighted at the Coburn Library exercises in this city. He came here in apparent good humor, and when he got back he was in very bad humor. Quod erat demonstrandum.

They don't call it counting a quorum; it is simply recording the members who are present but not voting.

VALUABLE COUGAR

A Court of Justice Considered It Worth $2,000.

[Special Correspondence.]

TAOS, N. M., April 12.—Mr. L. K. Herlow of this place had until recently a pet cougar, which proved to be about the most valuable cougar that ever was heard of. He captured the animal when it was a tiny kitten and had barely opened its eyes upon the world. He carried it home, brought it up by hand, and the little thing soon grew to be very fond of him. It would follow him about like a pet dog, he in his lap asleep by the hour, or frisk all over him if he encouraged its gambols. As it grew older and stronger he would take it with him on long trips he was accustomed to make in a wagon, and Wiggins, the poetic name by which the cougar was known, appeared to enjoy these trips immensely.

He would trot along behind or under the wagon like a watchdog for hours, and when he grew tired he would run to the front end of the wagon, make one leap and land on the top of the cover, where he would lie in the sun and peer contentedly over the edge of the cover at Mr. Herlow as he sat in the front driving, or he would jump down into the bottom of the wagon and lie asleep at his master's feet.

Wiggins was woe unto dogs that attacked him or came meddling around the wagon. He pretended not to notice them until they came within easy reach, when one scientific blow of his strong fore paw invariably left them dead in their tracks. When Mr. Herlow was away from the wagon, he would leave Wiggins chained beneath it, and Wiggins took as good care of things as if he had been a bulldog and a man with a winchester rifle all in one. With Herlow's horses and mules the cougar was on exceedingly amiable terms. They understood each other perfectly.

But finally Wiggins came to an untimely end. Mr. Herlow had had him for two years or more, and he had become a full grown, strong and beautiful creature when his master left him one day recently chained under the wagon as usual. Two valuable hounds belonging to a young Englishman in the neighborhood who hunts a great deal and spends much money for dogs came ranging over the fields, scented the cougar under the wagon by the roadside and tackled him. The baying and yowling that ensued reached the ears of the Englishman, who hurried to the scene of battle to find his two most valuable hounds lying dead beside the wagon and a chained cougar sitting there with the light of victory in his eyes. The Englishman was so enraged that he shot and killed Wiggins on the spot. A moment later Mr. Herlow came back, and then "there was language." Herlow sued the Englishman for $2,000 damages, and the suit was decided in his favor, the jury giving him every cent he claimed.

Perhaps the fact that the young Englishman has always been very unpopular in this region will help to explain the verdict. FLORENCE FINCH KELLY.

CONGRESSMAN BRECKINRIDGE'S LAST LEGISLATIVE WORK.

He Introduced Two Bills to Promote Morality—Still Commenting on Senator Hill's Tariff Speech—The Bill to Tax Greenbacks—The Ford Theater Disaster.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—[Special.]—The various committees having the most to do directly with the people's money have about finished their work and have furnished the house with some surprises. When Mr. Cooper of Indiana introduced his bill for the taxation of greenbacks at the same rate as other money, it was greeted with a good natured smile and looked upon as merely a mild piece of Populistic legislation. It therefore attracted attention when the committee reported by 2 to 1 in favor of the bill and excited some inquiry as to their reasons, as it had generally been taken for granted that taxation of the federal government's obligations in any form was unconstitutional. The committee has decided, however, that this is not strictly true, and that the privilege of nontaxation may be waived by the accredited agents of the government. To this conclusion the members were led by the argument in Judge Cooley's work on taxation which is the standard authority in the house on such matters.

The Question of Taxation.

The author argues the case clearly, shows that the exemption from taxation is only deduced from the general power of the government to sustain and strengthen its credit and then states in express words that congress has the power to declare government legal tenders subject to taxation under certain circumstances as it may see fit to prescribe. The committee agree that the reason is absolutely conclusive, and that congress can therefore make greenbacks or any other government obligation used as money taxable. They differ on the question of expediency. On that point the two-thirds majority have some really stunning figures tending to show that more than half of all the paper money in the country escapes taxation under cover of the greenbacks.

In one case reported a single individual had had on hand $125,000 in greenbacks when the assessor called and did not pay a cent of tax on money. The history shows that in the struggle to maintain its credit in war times the government made every thing nontaxable which was even indirectly a government support, even the national bank shares. But so much opposition was excited that in time the latter were made taxable. The committee is confident of passing the Cooper bill through both houses, and thus putting all forms of currency on the same level of taxation.

The Ford Theater Disaster.

When the full details of the disaster at the old Ford theater on June 9 last year were first given to the country, there was a universal feeling that the sufferers should receive exemplary damages in some form. Individual bills were brought into congress for paying the various claimants, the largest being that introduced by Senator Voorhees for paying $10,000 to Captain John B. Dowd. He is the man whose case excited so much attention, as he lay for hours under an immense heap of bricks and iron girders, and when taken out was supposed to be crushed out of all semblance to humanity. In fact, his presence under the heap was only discovered by accident after the search had been abandoned.

Such was the skill of the surgeons, however, or the remarkable force of his constitution that he recovered without the loss of bone or limb and is once more able to work at his desk in the record and pension office of the war department. As he was a soldier of splendid record and twice wounded in the civil war, it was thought his case should be made special, but as representatives of the 23 who were killed and all the 79 who were injured put in their claims the whole matter rested until a short time ago the senate appointed a special committee of five, of which Senator Harris is chairman, to report on all the cases. They have just appointed a board of three surgeons, and now it is promised that every sufferer will be paid according to his injuries. But there are too many indications that the delay will be as with many other claims against the government.

Janus Faced Breckinridge.

The colleagues of the unfortunate Breckinridge continue to bring up facts of a more or less painful nature in the retrospect, one of them being that the last legislative work he did before taking his place in court as defendant was to introduce two bills for the promotion of general morality. They did not bear that title of course. One is a bill requiring people who live in boats on navigable rivers to take out license for so doing which would subject them to the same regulations as steamboat men and others on the river have to observe. The bill is evidently aimed at the managers of trading boats which often do a very thriving business on the Ohio when steamboats are delayed by bars or other wise. The laws about Sunday liquor selling and the like are often ignored on such boats. The other Breckinridge bill is one to prevent secular labor on Sunday in this District and other places subject to congressional legislation except in cases of extreme necessity.

The Tariff Bill.

The speech of Senator Hill on the tariff, as might have been expected, has been the subject of general conversation and there is no attempt of the advocates of the bill to deny that it has had a depressing effect, nor to weaken that impression that the bill may be defeated in the senate. The general feeling was relieved by the immense crowd which strolled for an entrance to the galleries, while the floor was well filled by members of the house, there being a mere squad in the lateral aisles to discuss District of Columbia matters. It was known in advance that with the income tax measure retained the bill would lose three Democratic votes certainly and possibly five, while without that clause it would lose all the Populist votes. I feel that even if the income tax is retained the bill will be somewhat certain of receiving the support of a majority of the Democratic members, but with a decided falling off in the number of votes by which it will be passed. The chances are against it, that the changes to be made against the passage of the bill. The impression is of course greatly increased not only by Senator Hill's attack on the income tax feature, but still more by his severe criticism of the administration. It is generally conceded that the chances are at present rather against the bill.

A Cactus Club.

The Cactus club of Sharonville is a unique organization. It is composed of men and women who unite in a company solely for the purpose of studying cacti. They have found much of interest in these curious desert plants, and their periodical expeditions are much enlivened by such as are invited to be present.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Free Trade Education.

The Republican and the Democratic voters are studying the lesson of Democratic national finance with much more personal and pecuniary interest than in 1892.

The lesson of 1893 closes with this handwriting on the blackboard:

May 4, 1893, to Oct. 3, 1893, withdrawn by the people from national banks, $370,000,000.

Loans called in by national banks, $318,000,000.

National banks and other banking institutions suspending payment in 1893, 353.

Railroad property gone into hands of receivers, over $1,200,000,000.

The money lost to thousands of men and women, representing every form and grade of labor, estimated by Mr. David Wells to be more than a thousand millions of dollars, or more than one-third the amount of the national debt at the close of the war.

At no previous time in the history of the United States have so many people been out of work.

Cause—Distrust.

Distrust in banks? No.

Distrust of currency? No.

Distrust—widespread, popular distrust—in the legislative branch of the government, with its Democratic majority and possibilities.—Vermont Standard.

Facts For Farmers.

The duty on hops on an ad valorem basis of 20 per cent will average from 2 to 3 cents per pound. The farmers of New York state must again be content with from 6 to 10 cents per pound for their hops instead of the 15 and 20 cents they have been getting under the McKinley tariff. But the British beer trust will make more money. Senator Hill should look into this matter.

With prime cattle worth less than $10 per head in Australia and meat upon the free list, it is quite possible that we may become an importer of colonial meat. The average value of cattle on American farms Jan. 1 was $14.66, and even if the Canadian farmers are unable to depreciate the value of our cattle their Australian cousins may be in a position to do so shortly.

not examined the ground do not realize what they have. They are convinced that in a short time they will have a pay mine.

The O'Brien lease on the Hidden Treasure mine is now in ore at the 160-foot level and will commence shipping in a few days. The new hoister on this property works to perfection.—Cripple Creek Journal.

Casey & Wilson, who held a bond and lease on the Keystone lode, have sold out to J. B. Calder and other Colorado Springs parties, the deal having been closed yesterday. The new lessees will push development work.—Cripple Creek Journal.

A rich strike is reported from the Dead Horse claim of the Consolidated company. The details of the strike are closely guarded, but it is known that a good body of high-grade ore has been encountered, and that shipments may soon be expected.

A wonderfully rich strike has been made on the south side of Bull hill, on the California Dick, located pretty well down to Battle mountain. The shaft is down about thirty feet. The ore was being thrown over the dump. On breaking it it was found to carry free gold and pieces were as large as grains of wheat. The property is owned by Paul Long, J. Nelson and C. Stewart.—[Cripple Creek Journal.

Congressman Bell is receiving a large number of petitions from all over the State, some protesting against and others urging the passage of a bill to further suspend for 1894 the operations of the mining law requiring $100 worth of work to be performed annually on mining claims. The majority of these petitions, however, are against such suspension, the claim being that such suspension would throw many men out of employment. Denver Times.

The following statement of the shipments of smelting ores and concentrates to the valley smelters is made by the Central City Register-Call for the month of March: Total number of cars shipped 194, or 2910 tons, which is an increase of 15 cars over the preceding month of this year, and an increase of 22 cars over March, 1893. The increase in the output of stamp mill ore was much larger, the number of stamps dropping having an excess of 85 over March, 1893. On every hand there is an increased activity in mining in the Golden Queen.

BETTER LAID THAN NEVER.
If people had believed in Colorado Springs in the early days and had given it the right kind of handling and "booming," it would to-day be the capital and chief city of the state. It is the natural location to be the railroad center of Colorado; it lies at the very entrance to the best trans-mountain pass in the West, and almost every important mining district is directly tributary to it. It has thrived when other towns were going back; and now, with the greatest of all Colorado mining camps at its very door, it is growing and building up more rapidly than any other western city. Most western towns get ahead of their resources, but Colorado Springs has not kept up with hers. Think of the resources of this city: the greatest summer resort in America, one of the greatest health resorts, a college town, and now the business point of a great mining camp that is becoming greater every day. With all these resources Colorado Springs and Colorado City have only 18,000 population. When these resources are developed the population will be 50,000; and the men who buy real estate now will be rich then. In this town Fortune has been knocking at people's doors for twenty years.
We can sell you vacant lots at $125 each; vacant lots in the best residence quarter at from $850 to $1500; residences at all prices; and business properties at lower prices than they will ever be offered again. Our sales since the first of the month have averaged more than $1000 per day. Be guided by the signs of the times, and buy real estate.
As a special snap we offer a 7 room modern house on monthly payments of $25. Real estate to trade for mining stocks.
